

A photograph of a furnished room, likely a dormitory or shared living space. The room features two light-colored wooden desks. On the left desk, there is a black office chair, a water bottle, and some papers. On the right desk, there is another black office chair, a small wooden cabinet, and a bag. A window with white frames and light-colored curtains is positioned above the desks, offering a view of a building and trees outside. A white radiator is visible beneath the window. The floor is covered with light-colored wooden planks.
